

4 Ways to Save Time:

Streamline Audits and Appeals

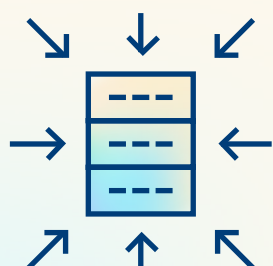

Audits and appeals can be so time-consuming that providers often resort to write-offs. But by replacing manual work with automation, visibility, and control, you can work more efficiently and with greater clarity.

These four steps will help you minimize costs and boost the success rate of your audits and appeals.

1

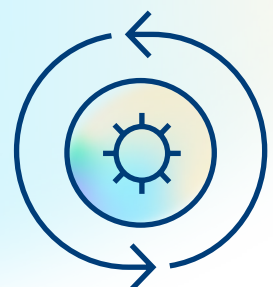

Simplify workflows and expand visibility.

Optimal workflows allow your team to take the next step to successful audits and appeals with minimal research and analysis. At the same time, automated alerts of key due dates and tracking updates empower all team members to complete and resolve audits and appeals in a timely manner.

2

Centralize key information.

Alleviate the administrative burden with a solution that allows staff to view and work with all audit and appeal information in one place. This should include current status, patient and claims details, provider and payer details, critical remit details, plus the ability to view and track esMD submissions.

3

Leverage automation to do more with less.

Choose a solution that can automate the tracking of current status and results of audits and appeals. As an organization that provides care for a large population of Medicare beneficiaries, integrated esMD and Medicare functionality can help to automate key dates and next steps.

4

Ditch the paper.

Use a solution that allows you to upload all attachments in an easy-to-find tab, for viewing and access anytime, anywhere.
